Also to name one presidential elector and to transact such other business as may properly come before the convention. Rock county will be entitled to 10 delegates, Walworth 6, Racine 8, Jefferson 6, and Kenosha 3.

W. H. Houghton, Chairman.
Geo. A. Yale, Secretary of Committee.

THE RESULT OF THE ELECTION.

One of the great fruits of yesterday's political contest in this city, is the transferring of the political control of the common council from the democratic to the republican party. This is an important step in favor of the enforcement of the law. The democratic party has had control of the common council for many years, and has had full sway in the management of city affairs, and the expenditure of city funds. It is not the purpose of the Gazette at this time to call up old matters for the purpose of casting reflections of any kind on the common council. Suffice it to say, that with the incoming of the new common council there will undoubtedly be a somewhat radical change in the manner of doing city business. The republicans believe in doing public business in accordance with law, and no doubt the new common council will inaugurate and insist on this being done in municipal affairs while it is in the majority. According to the provisions of the charter, it is the duty of the council to legislate upon municipal affairs, and to instruct the executive officers of the city. It is the duty of the executive officers to see that the law is obeyed in every particular. The common council possesses no power to execute.

Mayor Winous is the chief executive officer of the city, and although a strong partisan of the democratic faith, he will find every republican alderman standing by him in his efforts to conscientiously carry out the provisions of the city charter and enforce all laws.

Street Commissioner John Brown being elected as an independent, but having a common council of his own political faith, will be in a position to maintain his legal rights as general superintendent of the streets and public grounds, recognizing no authority outside that coming from the common council through the city clerk as the law provides. He now has an opportunity of showing the people of Janesville what a competent street commissioner is capable of doing. There is no doubt but the people will be satisfied with the result. With this change in the manner of doing city work, there will be no croakings and complaints that the people's money is squandered, and that not fifty cents on the dollar is returned in labor.

Marshal Hogen, as chief of the police force, will be instructed by the common council to enforce all laws, and there will be no alderman clothed with authority or influence in the council sufficient to interfere with him outside the council chamber. He can rest assured that every republican in the council will be found on the side of a rigid enforcement of all laws.

Other heads of departments will be given similar instructions concerning their departments, and each will be held to a strict accountability for the efficient and economical government of the city. In truth, it is the republican policy to faithfully assume the trust of the management of city affairs, administer the laws impartially but in accordance with their intent and meaning, and to allow no guilty man to escape.

This policy will appear somewhat strange to those who have been in the habit of doing city business heretofore, but all true citizens will soon see that it is the only safe course to pursue. If our laws are bad, repeal or amend them, but while a law remains, enforce it. By this manner of conducting the public business, it will be a long day before the democratic party is restored to power in Janesville.

IMPORTANT VIEWS ON THE TARIFF.

The North American Review has done a good work in inviting representatives of the great industries affected by the line of action proposed by the president's message to give the country the benefit of their practical experience. Over thirty pages of the April number are occupied with brief statements of opinion on the leading question of the day from men competent to speak for the productive interests of the country. These statements are made in response to a direct inquiry respecting the probable effect of measures passed in line with the message on the industries which they represent and on the wages of working people employed by them. Seven of these business experts testify with one accord that the effect of such legislation would be ruinous to industries and wage-earners alike.

The Hon. B. F. Jones, chairman of the national republican committee, speaking on behalf of iron and steel manufacturers, resolves the tariff into a simple question of wages and rate of interest. He contends that protection would not be needed if it were possible to make the rate of interest as low for business purposes here as it is abroad, and also if it were desirable to reduce wages to the punishing standard of other countries.

George H. Ely, representing iron ore, argues that there is one supreme obstacle to a tariff framed in accordance with the president's idea of putting raw materials on the free list; the question of wages for hundreds of thousands of laborers.

A. L. Conger, speaking for manufacturers of agricultural machinery, maintains that the president's tariff "reform" will ruin the metal industries, impoverish the farmers and scale down the earnings of workmen who are now receiving forty cents to sixty per cent higher wages than corresponding classes of workmen abroad.

Senator Chase, after stating that labor in New England factories is about sixty-five per cent higher than in Great Britain, and nearly three times what it is in Italy, affirms that there are no trusts in the cotton business and that the protectors' vaunt upon working people's earnings and precariously business enterprises is not justified by the condition of the country.

N. T. DePaul, of New Albany, Ind., describes the struggle with plate glass manufacturers here had in establishing their industry and the enormous investment required before the business could be placed on a paying basis. In 1857, before there was active competition from America, large unsilvered plate glass cost 97.10 cents per square foot; in 1887 the average was 32.7-10 cents. This enormous reduction in price had been effected while skilled workmen were getting $17 a week, against $7 in England and $6.34 in France. During the same period silvered plate glass has been reduced in price from $1.25 to $1.09. While unsilvered glass is 65.2 per cent lower than in 1857, silvered glass is only 13 per cent lower; and the sole reason for this difference in the rate of reduction is the fact that one industry has been established in America under protection, whereas the other has not.

The Chicago Tribune claims that these contributors to the protection side of the tariff, are interested witnesses. Of course they are, just as much interested in protection as the Tribune is in free trade. But further than that. They are men who have built up large industries, and who have paid more money to working people than all the theoretical free traders in the country combined.

INDIAN EDUCATION.

The President's Proclamation Resolutions Adopted by the Methodist Conference.

WASHINGTON, April 4.—At the recent annual conference of the Methodist church in Philadelphia resolutions were adopted regarding the education of the native Indian language in the government schools. President Cleveland has written a reply to the letter, including the resolutions, in which he expresses surprise at the conclusions reached by the ministers. He defends the exclusion of the native vernacular from the regular course of instruction and the substitution of the English language as best calculated to prepare the Indians for their struggle for existence, and thinks the use of the Indian tongue in religious instruction will answer every purpose.

A REPUBLICAN VICTORY IN CHICAGO.

The Result Elsewhere in Illinois—The Fusion Against the Labor Ticket in Milwaukee Scores a Victory—Other Cities and Towns.

BATTLE OF THE BALLOTS.

CHICAGO, April 4.—The Republicans swept the city yesterday and elected all their town tickets except the Independent ticket on the North side, who were beaten by Chase. The latter carried every ward in the city, but the rest of the Republican ticket was given a good-sized majority.

In the aldermanic contest the Republicans elected nineteen aldermen and the Democrats were successful in electing eleven members of the City Council. In each of the Seventh and Ninth wards, both of them Democrats, the Republicans elected aldermen. This leaves the party representation in the new Council fifteen Republicans, fifteen Democrats and one Socialist.

Statistics from various points in the State show the following results: In Galena, Ill., the Democrats carried the day. In Madison, Wis., the Democrats carried the day. In Watertown, Wis., the Democrats carried the day. In Janesville, Wis., the Democrats carried the day.

IN THE CANADIAN PACIFIC.
Conditions Upon Which It Surrenders Its Monopoly in the Northwest.

OTTAWA, Can., April 3.—The terms of settlement between the Dominion Government and the Canadian Pacific railway, which enabled the construction of the line in the Northwest connecting with United States roads, are understood to be as follows: The Canadian Pacific is to surrender its monopoly in the Northwest on receiving $15,000,000 cash for 10,000,000 acres of land at $1.50 per acre. The conditions are that the land is to be sold to settlers and that the $15,000,000 will be expended in improving the railway and adding to the rolling-stock and branches. The foregoing is given on the authority of the Journal, a paper usually well informed on ministerial matters, but the Ministers seem as yet to have not authorized the publication of any terms.

A house without curtains—no not only curtains, but Curtains of elegant design—would be very much like the play of "Hamlet" with the role of "the royal Danish" left out. Now, that we are in Curtains, and do so immense trade in them, you need take your mind no further back than last year to recollect. For that Department was for many days filled with Curtains—and with Customers, while country orders flowed in like a rushing river. This year we've outdone ourselves. The Result of Yesterday's Municipal Election in Jamestown.

The Republicans Gain Control of All Departments of the City Government.

Only One or Two Little Crumbs for the Democrats to Consume Themselves.

THE CITY VOTE IN DETAIL.

The annual contest for the possession of the city government between the republican and democratic parties ended last evening, resulting in a gratifying general victory for the republicans. Election day was very pleasant, and there was much interest taken in the contest, a very full vote being polled. The greatest contest was for the office of city attorney and street commissioner, two offices of attorney being won by the democrats by a small majority, while the independent republican candidate won the office of street commissioner. The republicans have elected the city treasurer, school commissioner at-large, and (we will admit him) the street commissioner on the general city ticket; while the democrats elected the attorney and justice of the peace. The republicans elected three of the five aldermen, securing the control of the common council by a vote of six to four. Also, one school commissioner, the democrats electing two, giving the control of that board to the republicans by a vote of four to three. The republicans elect three of the five supervisors, three of the five constables. In fact the republicans have gained a working majority in every branch of the city government; and in yesterday's contest only lost one point already held, that of city attorney. All in all, the republicans have cause to feel proud of their victory, although not so complete as many desired, it is decisive.

It Was Something that had been Expected for Nearly Two Years.

What Those Who are Most Acquainted with the Case Say—The Incident.

The announcement of the Haseltine shooting in the Gazette last evening created a sensation in this city.

"I know that would have to come sooner or later," said one of the Jamestown attorneys who were engaged in the Haseltine trial. "Prominent Stevens Point people told me only a short time ago that Haseltine had frequently made threats against Curran's life. Both men were armed."

Today's Sentinel reports a well-known Stevens Point man as saying: "For two years everyone here has believed Curran would shoot Haseltine or that Haseltine would kill Curran. Both men always carried revolvers and either would have shot on the slightest provocation. Curran and Haseltine were formerly friends, and their enmity dates from the exposure of a scandal which has now resulted in two murders, the wrecking of the lives of two women and an agitation of Stevens Point society which might be compared to an earthquake."

"Curran has kept himself very close," said another, "and seldom if ever going far from the house. He seemed to expect that some day either Haseltine would kill him or that he would have to kill Haseltine. He also seemed to live in constant fear that his life would be taken and expressed that opinion to his friends on several occasions."

The coroners inquest at Stevens Point yesterday afternoon resulted in very few new developments. Mr. Haseltine had been out riding in the morning and returned to the livery stable where he kept his horse about 11 a. m. He then started to walk to his office. He was going down First street opposite the court house, and had not as far as the stairway of the Johnson building when he was fired upon. He fell down on his face and expired almost instantly. His body was taken to the coroner's rooms, where Drs. Phillips, Meyer, Rood and Gregory made examination, and found 9 bullet wounds in the head and the upper part of the body. A revolver was picked up close to where Haseltine was lying with both chambers empty. Whether this is Haseltine's revolver or not can't be told, but the testimony of the witnesses goes to show that Curran fired three shots from a revolver to where Haseltine was lying, but for what purpose can't be told.

Henry Curran called Marshal Finch soon after the shooting and said: "John did the shooting and wants to give himself up." Finch did not see John at that time but saw him afterwards. John said he had tried everything in the world to avert the difficulty, but did not say that he had done the shooting.

THE LAST NAD RATES.

Later, where the deceased had long been known as an earnest and faithful member. The Rev. Joseph W. Waito officiated, his words of comfort and consolation being very appropriate. A well-chosen musical selection was rendered by the All Souls choir. There was a large attendance and beautiful floral tributes bore mute testimony to the high esteem in which the deceased was held.

The funeral of Mrs. E. W. Fuller was held at the home of Mr. S. Hubbard, on Pearl street, first ward, this afternoon. Services were conducted by the rector of Trinity church, Rev. James Slidell.

Why Fortunate Men Enjoyed Augusta Fines.

We heard that fortune had bestowed a smile upon Miss Augusta Filena, 2037 Archer ave., Chicago. She was found to be a bright and intelligent German girl, in the employ of the Singer Sewing Machine Co. Yes, I have been rather fortunate. I held one-tenth of ticket 73,135, in the Louisiana State Lottery, costing $1, the drawing of which took place Jan. 10th, 1888, and drew $5,000. The money was paid promptly. I expect to buy a house for mother and I to live in, and you will know how thankful I am when I tell you that I am mother's only dependence."—Chicago, Arkansas True.
